PREFACE

Though there is no authentic records and documents available about the origin of Lepcha language, nevertheless, Lepcha language is a very ancient language of the world. No other language of antiquity can match its enormous quantity, variety and vitality. Its regularity and simplicity are definite proof of its most ancient origin. It has an organic structure and displays a fine sensitivity for the natural meaning of letters, vowels and roots of words. Also, Lepcha language is most copious, abounding in synonyms, antonyms, and homonyms and possessing words, to express every slightest change, every varying shade of meaning. It admits of a flow and power of speech which is wonderful and which renders it capable of giving expression to the highest degree of eloquence.

In order to develop and promote this ancients of ancient Lepcha language, several Lepcha Primer books have been published so far, but all based upon the principles of Latin Primer book to the Lepcha language and not based upon the structure of Lepcha itself, and as a result, it could not plant roots of the traditional language deep into the Lepchas heart and soul. As such, I have written this traditional Lepcha Lazaong book purely based upon the fundamental principles of Lepcha traditional style, applying the systematic or accurate method in the exact science of speech sounds, phonetic system or the body of the phonetic facts of the Lepcha language and have brought out this Lazaong book in the heart of the Lepcha world.

This Lazaong book is not only an elementary book for teaching Lepcha children and young adults to read, write and speak Lepcha, but it is also a primer of elementary principles, a primer of phonetics, pertaining to speech sounds and their production and phonetic spelling of the words. When reading this Lazaong book, the words are to be recited in the ancient Lepcha style used in reading from manuscripts, that is, to be read in measured cadence or chanted in sonorous and rhythmic strains which gives the correct stress and rhythm of the words and the correct distribution of the words.

In this Lazaong book, the Lepcha script and its structure are beautifully shown and explained. The letters, vowels, diacritical marks, finals, circumflex signs and other affixed signs are thoroughly exemplified and explained. Also, the letters, vowels, diacritical marks, finals, circumflex signs and other affixed signs are combined, conjoined, and arranged in alphabetical list, forming syllables and comprehending all the forms that monosyllabic words in Lepcha language can take. In fact, this Lazaong book is not only a Lepcha Primer book, but it is also a Lepcha book of phonetics, a Lepcha book of words, a Lepcha book of glossary, a Lepcha book of Lexicon, a Lepcha book of syllabic scheme of forming monosyllabic words, a Lepcha book of dictionary, a Lepcha primeval book on which Lepcha language and literature rest and a book of Lepchas' weapon of speech, which gives the power of fluent, forcible and appropriate speech. Indeed, this Lazaong book is a most wonderful, invaluable, unique, and rare treasure book of the Lepchas' ancient language and literature.

Thus, as this most hidden, secret and concealed Lazaong book of the ancient Lepcha language has now been unearthed and brought out right into the lime-light of Lepcha observation, and I feel that this much-needed traditional Lazaong book will surely infuse in the Lepcha children and young adults, an interest of their ancient language and as well as by studying this book they can easily master the Lepcha language, speech sounds and their production without causing confusion between words and spellings.

It gives me much pleasure to record my gratitude to Mr. G. Sherabjong of Darjeeling, Mandal B.S. Lepcha of Pudung, Kalimpong, Mandal D.T. Tamsang of Bom, Kalimpong, and Mr. Sonam Tshering Tamsang of Bom, Kalimpong, who in so many different ways have contributed so much to the publication of this Lazaong book.

AACHULEY!
